PASTORAL NOTES

Over the years, our large Kettering parish has been asked to host for a few weeks or months many students for the priesthood – including Father Andy for three months some years ago! This September we will be asked once more to welcome a student for the priesthood about to begin a sixth year in Rome, which will conclude with his ordination as deacon, and sometime after as priest. (The feast of St. John Vianney, patron saint of parish clergy, was on 4th August.) As you know, it is becoming increasingly difficult to maintain the number of priests in parishes that we have become accustomed to. St. Brendan's in Corby has had to combine with a second parish, St. Patrick's for some time. Our Lady's in Corby has now one priest instead of two, but there is also a Deacon. The parish priest of Oundle Parish is retiring at the end of August. On the other hand, one of the priests who was with us for two years, Father John Opoku from Ghana, now has many outlying communities to care for with the help of local leaders. An example to us?
