PASTORAL TEACHINGS

Father Jo will be with us until 4th December when he will return to the St Patrick's Refugee Centre in Uganda, where he is chaplain and director. The refugees come from numerous countries going through times of great civil unrest or war – the Congo, Somalia, Burundi, Rwanda – to name just a few. Father Jo has managed to have the different groups elect their own trusted leaders to help him. Not all of the over 25,000 refugees are Catholic, but certainly well over half are, coming often from very Catholic countries. Even some born in the refugee centre have gone on to become priests. Is there some way we can help a little with a farewell gift? Please let me know. I write this knowing we have had many second collections this year and this month in particular.
